PASTOR'S MESSAGE

Have we taken time to ask God what God wants us to be as a church and the direction we need to go to really turn us around?

There seems to be a lack of what I think John Wesley would be promoting for us to do to turn the negative around for our church. There is no call to fasting and prayer, and no call to faithfulness to the Holy Scriptures. I do strive to preach Christ and him crucified, but is this enough? I would think the laity should be doing some spiritual discernment also.

I have seen radical changes occur in churches when before launching a visioning process, they stop to ask God through prayer what direction God wants them to go.

I encourage our lay leadership to maybe even scrap some plans that have been laid out until we seek God and God's kingdom. After all, didn't Jesus tell us that is what we were to do? "But strive first for the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these things will be given to you" (Matthew 6:33). AS important as reorganization is, as important as becoming more focused on ministry is, our first calling as Christians is to major on the things God wants us to do. A church wide call to fasting and prayer would be a great way to start this process and to start restoration.

When I was ordained an elder in The United Methodist Church, I promised to teach my people to fast and to pray. It's time to take this seriously.

THOUGHTS FOR REFLECTION

Jesus of Nazareth taught us to live every hour of the day as saints (Christians). Every hour of the day is useful and may lead to divine inspiration, the will of the Father, the prayer of contemplation – holiness. Every hour of the day is holy.

We don't have to shut ourselves in a monastery (although there are days I want to hide in the Abbey of the Genesee) or fix strange and inhumane disciplines/rituals to our life. It is enough to accept the realities of life. Work is one of these realities; motherhood, the rearing of children, family life with all its obligations are others.

Seeking after the Son

The upstate New York man was rich in almost every way. His estate was worth millions. He owned houses, land, antiques and cattle. But though on the outside he had it all, he was very unhappy on the inside. His wife was growing old, and the couple was childless. He had always wanted a little boy to carry on the family legacy.

Miraculously, his wife became pregnant in her later years, and she gave birth to a little boy. The boy was severely handicapped, but the man loved him with his whole heart. When the boy was 5, his mom died. The dad drew closer to his special son. At age 13, the boy's birth defects cost him his life and the father died soon after from a broken heart.

The estate was auctioned before hundreds of bidders. The first item offered was a painting of the boy. No one bid. They waited like vultures for the riches. Finally, the poor housemaid, who helped raise the boy, offered $5 for the picture and easily took the bid. To everyone's shock, the auctioneer ripped a handwritten will from the back of the picture. This is what it said: "To the person who thinks enough of my son to buy this painting, to this person I give my entire estate."

The auction was over. The greedy crowd walked away in shock and dismay. How many of us have sought after what we thought were true riches only to find out later that our Father was prepared to give us his entire estate if we had only sought after his Son alone?

DYK: Submitted by Dean Wildrick

"Mike McLelland, district attorney of Kaufman County, Texas, and his wife Cynthia, were found shot to death in their home near Forney, Texas, on Saturday.

On Easter, Mr. Head, pastor of First UMC in Terrell, Texas, faced what he called an "elephant in the sanctuary" situation. The crowd – on what was supposed to be the most joyous Sunday of the year – filed in burdened by news that their fellow church members had been killed, execution style.

"I thanked them for coming and being here on Easter morning, and told them they were here as a witness to the fact that evil is not the last word," Mr. Head said by phone Monday. "It's the resurrection of Jesus Christ that is the most powerful and brings God's love as the last word."

The brazen gunning down in January of Mark Hasse, a prosecutor on McClelland's staff, has yielded extraordinary attention by law enforcement and the media to the McLellands' killings, with a connection assumed as the investigation goes forward involving, local, state and federal officers.

The McLellands were active at First UMC Terrell. "They were very involved in the life of the congregation, attending all kinds of events," Mr. Head said. "Mike was one of our Sunday school teachers, part of the rotation for teaching the Unity class."

A SPECIAL MOTHER'S DAY
The children told their mother she wasn't going to lift a finger on Mother's Day. They were going to do all the cooking. So, they got out three pots, two frying pans, six measuring spoons, three mixing bowls, a double boiler, a chopping board, eight serving dishes - - - and Mom was delighted with the results. She said it was the best Jell-O she ever tasted.
